

Why Study Arts & Humanities at UMD?

THE UMD COLLEGE OF ARTS AND HUMANITIES combines an innovative liberal arts education with practical career skills that last a lifetime. You'll immerse yourself in the great ideas of literary, artistic and cultural history, and, in the process, develop your creativity, critical and analytical thinking, problem solving and communication skills—qualities crucial for any career. Our graduates represent the next generation of artists, entrepreneurs, diplomats, archivists, journalists, entertainers, scholars, educators, lawyers and doctors.

ARHU CURRICULUM

The humanities are the study of what it means to be human, and the arts are the channels through which we deliver the stories and ideas that express our humanity. Whether you decide to major in the arts or in the humanities, you'll learn how the two areas are inextricably intertwined. Throughout your ARHU experience, we'll connect you with world-class faculty who will teach you about the music, dance, art, languages, literatures and cultures of the world. You'll investigate human experience, thought, expression and imagination. Learning in the classroom and near the nation's capital will provide you with unparalleled opportunities to perform with cultural icons like the National and Baltimore Symphony Orchestras or intern with the Smithsonian, NPR, Congress and the Washington Nationals, among others.

TIPS FOR CAREER SUCCESS

It's never too early to start planning for your career after graduation. Make an appointment to talk with the University Career Center @ARHU where we'll work with you to assess your skills, values and interests and use them to help find opportunities that meet your goals. Academic and career advisors will work with you to incorporate internships, living-learning programs, global experiences, research and more into your academic plan. Research shows that having one or more internships drastically increases your ability to land a full-time position upon graduation. Learn more at careers.umd.edu.
